Tech commentaries:

The EUR/CZK currency pair price fell by -0.0919% on the last day (Friday, 28th Jun 2024) from 25.08 K? to 25.05 K?. During the last trading day the currency pair fluctuated 0.423% from a day low at 24.98 K? to a day high of 25.09 K?. The price has risen in 6 of the last 10 days and is up by 1.3% over the past 2 weeks. Volume has increased on the last day by 14 thousand shares but on falling prices. This may be an early warning and the risk will be increased slightly over the next couple of days. In total, 60 thousand shares were bought and sold for approximately 1.50 K? million.

The currency pair lies the upper part of a narrow and falling trend in the short term, and this may normally pose a very good selling opportunity for the short-term trader as reaction back towards the lower part of the trend can be expected. A break up at the top trend line at 25.07 K? will firstly indicate a slower falling rate, but may be the first sign of a trend shift. Given the current short-term trend, the currency pair is expected to fall -2.76% during the next 3 months and, with a 90% probability hold a price between 23.69 K? and 24.38 K? at the end of this 3-month period. Do note, that if the stock price manages to stay at current levels or higher, our prediction target will start to change positively over the next few days as the conditions for the current predictions will be broken.

The EUR/CZK currency pair holds buy signals from both short and long-term Moving Averages giving a positive forecast for the stock. Also, there is a general buy signal from the relation between the two signals where the short-term average is above the long-term average. On corrections down, there will be some support from the lines at 24.95 K? and 24.75 K?. A breakdown below any of these levels will issue sell signals. Furthermore, there is a buy signal from the 3 month Moving Average Convergence Divergence (MACD). Some negative signals were issued as well, and these may have some influence on the near short-term development. A sell signal was issued from a pivot top point on Thursday, June 27, 2024, and so far it has fallen - 0.0919%. Further fall is indicated until a new bottom pivot has been found. EUR/CZK gained volume on the last day, but on falling prices. In technical terms, this is called divergence and may be an early warning. In some cases, increasing volume on falling prices may be considered positive, but that is mainly in typical "sell-offs".

EUR/CZK finds support from accumulated volume at 24.91 K? and this level may hold a buying opportunity as an upwards reaction can be expected when the support is being tested. On the upside the currency pair meets some resistance just above today's level from accumulated volume at 25.08 K?, 25.13 K? and 25.22 K?.

In general the currency pair tends to have very controlled movements and with good liquidity the risk is considered very low in this stock. During the last day, the currency pair moved 0.106 K? between high and low, or 0.423%. For the last week the currency pair has had daily average volatility of 0.457%.

EUR/CZK holds several negative signals and we believe that it will still perform weakly in the next couple of days or weeks. We, therefore, hold a negative evaluation of this currency pair. Due to some small weaknesses in the technical picture we have downgraded our analysis conclusion for this currency pair since the last evaluation from a Buy to a Sell candidate.

Risk: Low
